And Others to Complete World Coverage of Every Art Form

Each magnificent, colorful book will be complete in itself, and will present a most expert, systematic story of the origin, development and trends of all the arts in each culture.

This ART OF THE WORLD Series will provide you with a new understanding of the creative urge of Man ... Show the growth of Man's expression in pictorial and aesthetic forms. ... Show how this growth of the Arts was influenced by the evolution of religious and social structures; by the relations between men and women, the rise and fall of dynasties and empires, ceremonies, festivals and fertility rites, etc. Truly a fascinating story — richly rewarding to read — made highly dramatic with its abundance of unique full-color pictures!

An Art Tour of the World Across the Centuries — with Experts Bringing You Hundreds of Aesthetic Experiences — a Veritable Education in the Arts!

You will turn to these volumes again and again. They are as fascinating as walking through the world's greatest art galleries, museums, private collections — through hundreds of castles, monasteries, ancient ruins, walled cities — through cathedrals and palaces, temples and tombs — with learned experts giving you a veritable education in the Arts, set against the interesting story of the religious, social and historical changes that influenced them.

Hundreds of Masterpieces Including All Art Forms In Magnificent Fidelity of Color!

PAINTINGS — Here are PAINTINGS from the famous 30,000-year-old cave murals of Altamira and Wadi Djerat to most recent creations of Paul Klee, Picasso, Dali, Gorky! Paintings by great masters of India, Japan, China, Egypt, as well as from Holland, Belgium, France, Italy, Spain!

SCULPTURE — Here is much of the world's finest sculpture from the earliest fertility carvings of the Stone Age across the centuries that produced the Pietà, The Winged Victory of Samothrace, The Venus de Milo -- right down to present day creations of such geniuses as Lipschitz, Moore, and others.

ARCHITECTURE — Here, strikingly illustrated and expertly evaluated, are the outstanding examples of the world's architecture: ... The Palace of Minos on Crete — the amazing buildings of Pueblos, Mayans and Incas — the extraordinary Temple of Bacchus at Heliopolis — the unbelievable structures of Africans — the mortuary temples of the Pharaohs — the Egyptian pleasure-palace at Amarna — the villas, forums, cathedrals, palaces, basilicas, coliseums, all man's most noble architecture right up to today's works of Maybeck, van der Rohe, Verne, and other moderns!

TAPESTRY, CERAMICS, PORCELAINS, JEWELRY, COINS, ICONOGRAPHY, SEALS, POTTERY, MASKS, ARMOR, BATIK, SCREENS, RELIEFS, FRESCOES ... -- Here, in these volumes, are all the "Applied Arts" authoritatively discussed by author-experts.

Here is every form of art for all your family to enjoy and contemplate in sheer rapture, in the incomparable beauty of full colors! Here you will find every aesthetic movement described in detail along with the full story of the social, religious and historic factors that influenced them. You learn about all major art trends, schools, movements, and techniques! If you are genuinely interested in the fine arts, then ...

THE ART OF CRETE AND EARLY GREECE

A fascinating survey of the Golden Age of Cretan palaces and Mycenaean citadels. In words and pictures you share the excitement of fabulous discoveries by Schliemann and Evans. You see in full color an enormous amount of the antique architecture, frescoes and handicrafts they brought to light.

It is essential to understand these great discoveries because they represent the beginning of Western art and are vital background for later, Classical Greek art.

Topics include the Stone and Bronze Ages . . . Minoan Style in the Palace Period . . . Transformation and Renaissance: Mycenaean cult of the dead, contact with other areas, Trojan War, the "Dark Ages."

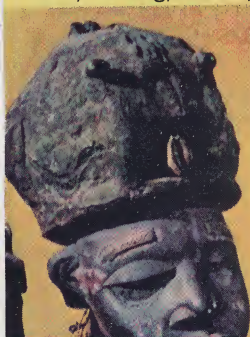

Full-color illustrations include magnificent heads of sacred bulls, colorful dancing scenes from tombs and temples, "on the spot" photographs of major archeological discoveries.

"... the floodgates have been opened to the whole world of man's artistic activity from the earliest stone age on down. ART OF THE WORLD series is certainly one of the most commendable publishing ventures . . . among authors are some no less than first-rank in their field. The color plates in all these volumes . . . are in fact superb."

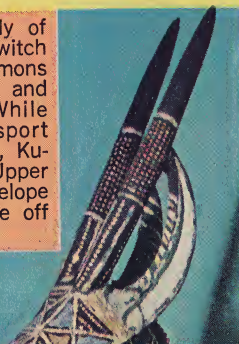

—PACIFIC DISCOVERY

Left: Delicate features of Queen Nefertiti still serve as standard for many beauties of today. Her husband, Akhnaton, aroused priesthood of 13th Century B.C. by declaring there was only one god. Right: Tree goddess Chulakoka Devaya assumes casual stance on column of richly carved Buddhist temple. Series brings library of world sculpture, carving, masks, etc.

Left: Mirror in belly of fetish helps Congo witch doctors see the demons which cause illness and trouble. Right: While American girls sport chignons to attract, Kurumba dancers of Upper Volta pin carved antelope atop heads to drive off souls of the dead.

THE ART OF ROME AND HER EMPIRE

An endless bounty of surprises for those who think Roman art is nothing but a copy of Greek art! This book stresses the unique quality of Roman culture, enriched but not dependent on outside sources. You learn how Celts, Iberians, Germans, Greeks, Syrians, and North Africans blended their culture with Rome's . . . and how the Roman identity was so strong it was able to digest and master all these foreign influences.

You learn, too, of Romans' very unusual feeling for space. Breathtaking photographs of architecture, reliefs, and portraiture all reflect this important contribution to world civilization.

Topics include Fundamental Characteristics of Roman Art . . . The Ages of Augustus, Claudius, Nero, Trajan, Hadrian, the Soldier Emperors, Constantine.

The 60 full-color photographs include majestic public buildings, statues and bridges still standing, precious coins, interiors of Roman villas, Roman theaters, temples and public baths.

"Numerous and pleasing color plates are chosen with fastidiousness." —NEW YORKER

THE ART OF CHINA: Spirit and Society

Three thousand years of art and civilization come to life in this book on the people whose many gifts to the world included: porcelain, silk, lacquer, paper, tea, and many others.

Topics include: Geography and Neighbors . . . Language and Writing . . . Many-colored Pottery . . . Earth-Symbol and Eternal Life . . . Sacred Vessels . . . Architectural Work . . . Shu Painting . . . Wood Sculpture . . . "One-corner" Style . . . Color Prints . . . Naturalism . . . Ming Dynasty.

Among the 62 full-color illustrations: Rare masterpieces of pottery and porcelain; bronze ritual vessels, ornately carved masks, exquisite jade jewelry from 250 B.C.; Kimono-clad dancers from Tomb of the Dancers;

THE ART OF THE STONE AGE

"Some 40,000 years of stone age paintings, still vitally alive, are traced, discussed, dissected and reviewed . . . 60 brilliant color plates, 8 definitive and useful maps and 55 marginal figures brighten the well laid out book." —SAN FRANCISCO EXAMINER

Starting with the great discovery of the famous cave of Altamira in 1879, we see how each new discovery demonstrates further that primitive man was less "primitive" than we thought. His art has a freshness and immediacy of approach that the 20th Century might envy.

It is thrilling to peer back into the life of our earliest ancestors. We see their tools, learn of the finishes used to preserve their work, and of the varying techniques used in different locales.

Full-color illustrations include pictures from Lascaux, Altamira, Wadi Djerat and other famous caves; men and women hunting, at work and play; extinct animals; caricatures; religious symbols; dancing figures; use of perspective; tools and weapons; fighting scenes.

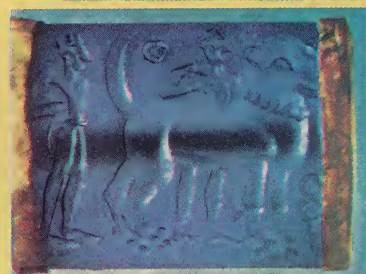

AFRICA: Art of The Negro Peoples

"Historical, sociological and religious background of Negro art . . . now enjoying a strong vogue, chiefly for its emotional vigor and clarity of form. Western painting and sculpture in the 20th Century have drawn heavily on the simplicity and inspired exaggeration of Negro art. The subject is treated with scholarly objectivity and thoroughness, and the reader is able to see just how African art came to produce the striking works that have come down to us . . . Will remain a standard work for a long time to come."

THE ART OF INDIA

An encyclopedia account of a 5,000-year-old culture in which mystic religious fervor is mingled with Oriental sensuousness and barbaric splendor.

Among the topics discussed and illustrated in full colors: Ancient jungle temples of unbelievable elaborateness . . . silver and gold coins and statues showing Buddhas, barbarian emperors, lovers and dancing girls . . . God Siva and his consort embracing on a lotus flower . . .
priceless Icons, Medallions and Miniatures . . . Ivory Reliefs and Carvings . . . Buddhist, Islamic and other Religious Sculptures . . . Mystical Symbols and Magical Properties of Buddhist Stupas . . . Richly Colored

Textiles showing Folk Scenes, Gardens and Dances.

Stuart Preston, Art Critic for the NEW YORK TIMES, praised the "extraordinary skill" of the author,
Hermann Goetz, Professor of Art History at the University of Baroda.
"Unlike Western art," Preston says,
"Indian art is not the reflection of a succession of great creative personalities, but a reservoir of collective cultural, religious and philosophical ideas. Mr. Goetz . . . threads his way through this maze with extraordinary skill . . . trail-blazing all the way from the ruins of Chanh-Daro (3rd millenium B.C.) to the revival of traditionalism at the hands of the modern painter Jamini Ray."

Other books will cover Classicism, Romanticism and Realism; Impressionists, Expressionists and Abstractionists; Art of Japan, Indonesia, South Seas; Byzantine, Romanesque, Gothic and Renaissance Art.
